Simply put, The Flores Shop is a branding and design firm. Not the kind of place that has a 48-step program to reach branding self-actualization. We'd rather focus on your business challenges, help you define who you are, and help you tell the world why you're different and important. See, we're all about bringing great marketing, advertising and design to the business world. Not to show the world how smart our company is, but to show them
